Announcement, September 19, 2018 – Selection of Investment Consultant

Concluding a search and selection process that began early this year, the Austin Police Retirement System Board of Trustees retained AndCo Consulting as its general investment consultant. AndCo has been the System's consultant for the past five years, although the initial selection was of the Bogdahn Group. Over the past 5 years AndCo has had a transition in majority ownership and rebranded with a new name – AndCo. Likewise, there have been transitions on the APRS Board, including in leadership positions, as well as the System Executive Director. As a part of best practices, APRS will periodically review all service providers.

A robust selection process was engaged for the investment consultant. A Request for Proposal brought approximately one dozen submissions. The APRS Board Chair named a special search committee to undertake review of the proposals. The committee performed its due diligence including numerous site visits to potential consultants, all of which are very accomplished professional entities. The committee recommended several firms to make presentations to the full Board, resulting in today's selection of AndCo Consulting.
